"FOLIO NOTES"

AUGUST THEME: URBAN MINORITY GROUPS

Beginning with this Folio, WBAI's programming each month will have a specific area of concentration. The emphasis this month is on the city and its minority groups.

In the last 50 years, America has changed from a rural to an urban society. At present, well over half the nation's population lives in cities; the principle culture of the country is created by the city and communicated to the rest of the nation. By the end of this century, only 34 years away, over 90% of the population will be concentrated into urban areas.

The modern American city is a highly complex social structure. Such a structure often tends to became a rigid one, but it is humane only in so far as it is sufficiently flexible to accomodate a great diversity of peoples, customs and values.

The city as a humane environment is undergoing a number of severe tests. None is more severe than the test offered by the nation's minority groups, especially the Negroes, the Puerto Ricans, and the Mexicans. Every social and political issue in the city is related, either through logic or emotion to the position the minority groups occupy — even to essentially peripheral issues such as the surrogate judgeship in New York City.

That the question of race or minority status is such a pervasive issue today is not only a heritage from past injustice and neglect: the solutions being developed today comprise the social inheritance of the future.

This month, one year after the racial explosions in Los Angeles, Chicago, and other major cities, WBAI has compiled the following programs exploring the problems posed by and for the urban minority groups: Thurs., Aug. 4, 8:40 P.M. 'Day of Absence;' Fri., Aug. 4, 'Forgotten Youth at the Crossroads;' Sat., Aug. 6, 8:00 P.M. 'Police Department — Minority Group Relations;' Mon., Aug. 8, 8:35 P.M. 'Welfare Clients and the Law;' Wed., Aug. 10, 8:00 P.M. 'Job Conference in Harlem;' Thurs., Aug. 18, 8:35 P.M. 'Oakland — The Next Watts;' Mon., Aug. 22, 8:00 P.M. 'Voices of Poverty;' Tues., Aug. 23, 9:15 P.M. 'A Look at the War on Poverty;' Wed., Aug. 31, 9:15 P.M.

'If You're White, You're All Right.' Each Monday, beginning Aug. 8, 10:15 P.M., 'Rent Strikes in New York,' a series. The commentaries of Conrad Lynn and Marty Schiff will also deal with this theme. In addition, several open hours have been scheduled to allow for items of immediacy and programs still in production which relate to this subject.

It is our hope that this new policy will contribute to the consistency and impact of our programming.

SEPTEMBER THEME: 'Innovation in Education.'

NEW COMMENTARY

Mr. Morty Schiff, physicist at Yeshiva University and chairman of the Chelsea Reform Club, is making his debut at the WBAI microphone this month. His subject matter will be the politics of poverty in New York City. He will be heard each Thursday at 7:00 P.M. and rebroadcast on Saturday at 10:45 A.M.

SPECIAL INTEREST

You will notice that some programs in this Folio are edged in black. These are not obituaries; these are programs which the staff believed to be of special interest and merit.

Of the 10,000 WBAI Folio Readers, 100 Will Now Subscribe to EAST SIDE REVIEW

One cold evening last February, ten thousand Greenwich Villagers and lower East Siders found something on their doorsteps, in bookstores and news stands, and being carried under the arms of young couples on their way home: EAST SIDE REVIEW.

ESR #1 contained a new play by LeRoi Jones, a story by William Burroughs, essays by Mekas, Tenney, Waring, Kozloff and Krassner, an interview with Herman Kahn, and a long letter by a murdered civil rights worker in Alabama. There were pictures, cartoons and poems by Ginsberg, Mailer, Corso, Rexroth, Patchen and 20 others. Many of the Villagers and lower East Siders subscribed to ESR so they wouldn't have to venture out again to get their copies.

EAST SIDE REVIEW'S SUMMER ISSUE is now on the press. In it, you'll read an interview with Marcel Duchamp; 'Fashions Of The Lower East Side;' 16 pages of previously unpublished photos of Marilyn Monroe and Brigitte Bardot, photographed by Bert Stern; 'Marijuana Madness;' by Dr. Robert S. deRopp, author of 'Drugs and the Mind,' essays by ESR's columnists on the Arts, including a new section on the poetry scene by Bob Wilson; and poems by Paz, Blackburn, Viereck, Kelly, Wakoski-Sherbell and many others. Also new in ESR #2 will be an extensive book and record review section.

EAST SIDE REVIEW isn't meant to be a mass media publication; it isn't sold in supermarkets. Neither is it a commercial venture (like WBAI) in that it doesn't exist in order to make money. ESR's sole reason for being is to bring you a large and attractive forum for the new art and popular culture. Of the 10,000 readers of the Folio, we expect about one in a hundred to care enough about the cultural scene to subscribe to ESR. To those 100 — You — welcome; you'll be receiving your copy this month.
